

Does humanity have a future in democracies?

No worries, you will not notice becoming a bio-robot.

Peter Mooring, 31 December 2023

Democracy is an illusion. Democracy in Western countries was never meant to give power to the people. It always had a security system that operated partly in secret controlling freedom of speech and the rule of law. Secret torture is the only option left to stop, coerce, punish, people in democracies. It is used for elimination: Remove a person from society by turning a person into a mental case, make a person commit a (staged) crime, or make a person commit suicide.

In Western democratic countries, secret torture is used to attack a person in his habitat (living environment). You are dehumanized and after that they can do with you what they want, including using you as a guinea pig. Because the attacks, called interventions, are a state secret, victims can go nowhere. This means that, as long as you do not (fully) collapse, the system will continue to attack you. A lifetime sentence.

The torture system, yes it is a system, includes many disinformation (government) agents. Some are pretending to be victims trying to make the real victims look bad, distract and/or mislead them. Other disinformation comes from psychologists, journalists, Wikipedia pages, etc. Many people, including psychiatrists and human rights lawyers, know what is going on, but stay silent.

When the internet era started, the War on Terror was used to implement counter-terrorism laws that apply to all (!) citizens. Muslim terrorism was used to tighten security, to take away our privacy, our rights. No longer committing a crime, but prevention of possible crimes became most important. More secrecy, lacking oversight, and much more power to the security system.

The security system needs justification for their expanding powers. Many people in Western democratic countries are attacked without any official accusation. Reasons are often vague and include revenge, nepotism. Did they really do something wrong? People are also needed for human experimentation and to create false flags. And anyone who exposes these crimes must be ignored, ridiculed or labeled mentally ill. Otherwise, the system, read democracy, will collapse.

The crimes committed by Western democratic countries against their citizens have reached epic proportions. Computer and communication technologies enabled horrific psychological torture. Directed Energy Weapon developments enabled horrific physical and psychological torture of the human body from a distance and through-walls. And neurotechnology developments enabled horrific torture that can access the brain from a distance and through-walls.

MK-ULTRA never stopped. Many citizens in Western democratic countries are used as guinea pigs for the development of new methods and weapons. Not only are they attacked and tortured, some 24/7, they are also experimented upon without their consent. The goal is to develop brain control weaponry for total population control. Today, our brains are the battlefield.

One should never compare torture. But here we have on the one hand people that are tortured in prison in non-Western countries, and recognized as victims by human rights organizations, and on the other hand people that are tortured without any official accusation, in their habitat (living environment), often also victims of the most heinous abuse of weapons and scientific-military experiments, not recognized but ignored, ridiculed and labeled mentally ill, who can go nowhere and with a lifetime sentence.

Everyone knowingly and willingly participating in these secret torture programs is breaking the law. The enablers, the organizers, and executors. Police, intelligence agencies, military, their contractors, and civilians involved by law enforcement. This also includes weapons developers, neuroscientists, psychiatrists. Western democratic countries pretend they do not torture and respect human rights. This means that judged by their own laws, almost all participants should be jailed, and many should be jailed for life.

And this is where we are today. Democracy has evolved into a dystopian nightmare. The security system has acquired unprecedented powers. And because torture is a state secret, it cannot be challenged, not by victims, not by human rights organizations, not by politicians. More corruption and abuse of power at all levels because all participants need to protect themselves from anyone who wants to start investigations, wants them tried and jailed.

The lives of citizens of Western democratic countries are already very much controlled. In very near future, neurotechnologies powered by Artificial Intelligence (AI) that attacks the brain, will be used to control individuals, groups, everyone. Directed Energy Weapons will be used to incapacitate opposition that understands. This is already happening on limited scale today. A few people sitting behind computers, using algorithms and AI, and remotely controlling everyone.

We, the people of the world can still stop this. The situation is urgent because once our brains are remotely controlled, we are unable to resist. The only way out is to implement a worldwide ban on the use of neurotechnologies and Directed Energy Weapons against civilians by all governments including law enforcement, intelligence agencies and military. No exceptions. This is bigger than the post-World War II nuclear arms control treaties and must be initiated by the most powerful countries in the world. We, the people of the world, must tell them to act now, not tomorrow.

Will we be able to save humanity or will we all end up bio-robots?
